The demand for "Favorite" cooking stoves is greater than the agent, John T. Buckley, can supply.

The business boom has struck Frankfort, and is booming at R. K. McClure & Bro's, "Tackle" Todd and Hudson, he of the shoe string department, together with the proprietors, are up to their eyes in business, but cry for more. Read carefully every word on the last page of this paper, and be governed accordingly.

Mr. John W. McEwan, for some time past telegraph operator at the railroad depot in this city, has been ordered to Midway to take charge of the affairs of the railroad company at that place as station agent. This is a well merited promotion, and the company will have no cause to regret it, as "Bud" is, in every way, well qualified to fill the position to which he has been appointed.

Last Tuesday afternoon Dr. J. Lampton Price was driving down Ann street in his buggy, and when he reached Market street a boy ran out from behind a car that was standing on the track at that point, which frightened his horse, causing him to whirl suddenly and start off up the street again. The doctor was thrown out upon the pavement in front of the market-house, alighting upon his hands. His left wrist and elbow were badly sprained.

Frankfort was never livelier nor busier than on last Monday, County Court-day. A very large crowd of our country cousins came to town, and the merchants had more business than they could attend to. We understand that during the whole of last fall there was no such business done in this city in one day as was done last Monday. There was a large number of cattle and horses on the market, the prices for which they were sold being very fair. Beef cattle changed hands at 2 1/2 to 3 cents per pound, and milch cows, of which there were only a few, brought good prices. Horses were sold at low figures, but, considering that the winter is upon us, they sold well enough.

Don't forget that Prof. J. Prescott Eldridge, the greatest living recitationist, will give an entertainment at Major Hall to-night, in the course of which he will illustrate ten different varieties of the human voice. He will also, during the first part of the entertainment, faithfully portray, in voice, action, expression, and gesticulation, all of the passions, emotions, affections, feelings, and humors that control the mind and soul, through the medium of his programme of recitals, selected from his repertoire.

The New Castle, Pa., Gazette says of him:

With the magic powers of an accomplished elocutionist, Prof. Eldridge unites a profound knowledge of mesmerism, psychology and electro-biology, together with the ability to make the subjects of his almost unlimited mesmeric power, laugh, sing, talk, dance, stagger and fall as if drunk, or sleep as if in a trance, all by the simple exercise of his own will. That he possesses these remarkable powers, he gave ample proof to all who had the pleasure to witness his performance.

Last Sunday night being the time for the election of officers of the Antioch Christian Temperance Union, the following were chosen to serve for the ensuing six months, viz: W. H. Hampton, President; C. H. Parrent, Vice President; Miss Kate Glaze, Secretary and Treasurer. After which speeches were made by Capt. Sanford Goin and Sidney French, of Frankfort, and G. W. Roach, of this place. Two singers, making a grand total of forty-nine since the second of February. Pos.

Everybody knows that so long as there is proud flesh in a sore or wound, it will not heal. The obstacle is speedily removed, and the flesh re-united by HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE, the finest embodiment in existence of that supreme purifier, carbolic acid. Its emollient ingredients modify its pungent acid basis, so that it never cauterizes, stings or scarifies the diseased part. Sores and eruptions of all kinds are cured by it. FRANKFORT, NOVEMBER 8, 1879.

The Next Sheriff.

The various candidates for the office of Sheriff of this county had quite a lively time last Monday. They were mixing around with the people, pressing their claims and taking voluntary pledges with as much complacency as such things can be done.

It may not be known to every man in Franklin county who the gentlemen are that aspire to the office of Sheriff, and for the benefit of such as do not know, we will tell what we know about them, premising that cleverer gentlemen than all the candidates never ran for office in this county.

In another column we have spoken of Mr. Geo. W. Quarles, and need say nothing more of him than to repeat what has already been said, viz: That no cleverer man can be found than he, and, if elected, he will fill the office most satisfactorily. We know nothing definite as to who will be his deputies, but have been told that young Mr. Williams, either M. H. P., Jr., or John B., either of whom is competent and will make a good deputy, will be one of them.

Capt. E. H. Taylor, well known to almost everybody in the county as the commanding officer of the McCreary Guards and also as a reliable, energetic business man, was a candidate for the office to which he aspires two years ago, but some time before the election came off he withdrew from the race and publicly announced that he would make the race for the next term. He is entirely competent to fill the office, and, if elected, will discharge the duties devolving on him without fear or favor. He comes before the people with a strong team supporting him, viz: Mr. J. W. French, of the Forks of Elkhorn precinct, and Mr. O. B. Polsgrove, of the Bald Knob precinct. These gentlemen are known and respected all over the county, and will make good deputies.

Mr. E. O. Hawkins, one of the deputies of the present incumbent, is another for midable man in the race. He is personally known to almost every man in the county, and is esteemed for his kindness, manliness and devotion to duty. His friends are numbered by scores, and, if elected, he will discharge the duties of the office most acceptably to the people. Officer Jere Lee, Captain of the night police force of this city, and ex-City Marshal, is making the race with him as one of his deputies, and, being immensely popular, will give him much strength.

Altogether, this is the nicest, cleverest, most popular and deserving lot of candidates that ever ran for the same office at the same time in this county, and we are sorry that all of them can't be elected next August.

IN MEMORIAM.

The sad announcement in the ROUNDABOUT several issues back, of the death of Miss BELLE HANCOCK, of Hardinsville, calls for a more extended notice than was then given.

She was a young lady of no ordinary excellence and worth. Richly endowed by nature with those rare gifts of mind and heart out of which the loveliest womanhood develops, it was her fortunate privilege to receive the careful education and culture which realizes to the fullest degree, all the possibilities that slumber within. I first formed her acquaintance a few years ago, when in the ripeness and maturity of her womanly powers, every grace and charm that beautifies, seemed to rest upon her brow. With a bright, attractive and well stored mind, and a warm, true and affectionate heart, she impressed you on the moment of your approach with the loftiness of her sweet and lovely character. The spiritual was her native realm. She seemed even then to be more of heaven and less of earth than any one I had ever known. With the coarse, rough, and sordid she had nothing in common. Her nature was inherently and wonderfully refined and sensitive. Womanly modesty and chasteness reigned in her presence.

"The blossom opening to the day,
The dew of heaven refined,
Could naught of purity display,
To emulate her mind."

The possession of her friendship was a precious and perpetual blessing. In the charmed circle of her home life she was the light and joy. Parental and fraternal love held her in a tender esteem, and an exalted home which words are too poor to describe. And when the fragile flower faded, and the light of her beautiful life went out—though to bloom in renewed brightness and exalted beauty above—the desolation at the hearth stone she has left, is simply crushing in its terribleness. Yet what added grief would the bereavement not have, without the consolation of the Christian faith and hope, which speak of the blessed day to dawn when the loved and lost shall be restored to us again!

"Alas for him who never sees
The stars shine through his cypress trees,
Who hopeless lays his dead away,
Nor looks to see the light of day.
Across the mournful marbles play.
Who has not learned in hours of faith
The truth to flesh and sense unknown,
That Life is ever lord of Death,
And Love can never lose its own."

Through the long, weary, painful weeks of her last illness, when the fatal grip of that enemy of life—consumption—was slowly wasting her strength, her cheerful buoyancy and patient resignation told how firmly she trusted her Savior, and how unflinchingly, even in the rosy morning of her years, she would yield her young life to his demand.

And now as the autumn winds blow over her grave, and the falling leaves, with rustling touch, cover the grassy turf under which she lies, the Angel of Memory stands at the foot to keep fragrant in our hearts the deeds and virtues of the life that is gone, while the Angel of Hope stands at the head to point us with constant finger to the glad re-unions of the life to come.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

FRANKFORT, NOVEMBER 8, 1879.

Good cord wood is abundant at $3 50 per cord.

The mercury registered 15° above zero Tuesday morning.

As the rain refuses to come down, coal insists on going up.

The price of coal has advanced to 30 cents the past week.

Royal Templars meet next Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

Col. R. H. Crittenden has sold his six-acre lot, at the corner of Murray and Todd streets, South Frankfort, to Mr. H. Lee Watkins, for $1,500.

The cistern at the corner of Market and High streets was pumped out by the fire engine Monday afternoon, and will be replastered and repaired.

Rev. Green Clay Smith will preach at the South Frankfort Baptist Church to-morrow morning, at 11 o'clock, and at night, at 7 o'clock. All are invited.

Mrs. R. E. Fennell has resigned the position of keeper of the railroad bridge and the commissioners have elected Mr. Alfred B. Read as her successor.

There will be a public meeting of the Christian Temperance Union at the court house to-night. The meeting will be called to order promptly at 7 o'clock. All are invited.

Miss Alice Pollock, of Indiana, who has been visiting Miss Katie Rodgers, South Side, while out riding Monday was thrown from her horse, having her shoulder severely fractured.

A difficulty occurred at the Kentucky Military Institute last week between two of the students, in which one was cut in the thigh with a razor. The party who did the cutting was expelled from school.

Mr. Darsie preaches to-morrow night on "The Glory of Young Men," the first of a series of Sunday night talks to young people on themes of a living and practical interest. A cordial invitation extended to all.

The prettiest wall-paper, at the lowest prices, we ever saw has just been received at the furniture house of Whitesides & McEwan. The patterns are rich and of the very latest designs. Call and see for yourself.

The news of the elections in the several States last Tuesday caused much rejoicing with a few in this city and many others to wear long faces. The few took several drinks because of their happiness; the many took several drinks "to better luck next time." Who would beer politician?

Last Saturday morning the roof of the house on Madison street, occupied by Mr. W. I. Steele, and owned by Mrs. N. Heffner, was discovered to be on fire and the alarm sounded. The fire department was promptly on hand, but the flames were extinguished with buckets, and no water was thrown by the engine. A large hole was burnt in the roof, but the loss is very slight. A defective flue was the cause.

An exchange suggests that the unusual activity in the matrimonial market this fall is a sure and unfailing sign of an extremely cold winter. We have thus the prediction, but wherein lies the philosophy?

For a genteel, elegantly fitting suit of clothes, at prices to suit the times, you can do no better than to call on Berberich, the fashionable tailor. He has no superior in his line, and always gives entire satisfaction.

While Officer Kirkpatrick was taking a disorderly negro woman to the work-house Sunday night she said, "I see a thorough-bred, I is; I wuz bred and bawn in de blue-grass, and I see a thorough-bred, and don't you fergit it."

A parlor concert, for the benefit of the Presbyterian Sunday-school, will be given at the residence of Mr. E. L. Samuel, next Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Let everybody attend. The price of admission is only twenty-five cents.

Now would be the time to agitate the improvement of the river, or the building of a railroad to the coal regions. Coal at thirty cents a bushel, strikingly suggests how it is and how it might be if we had a river locked and dammed to the Three Forks.

Notwithstanding winter is almost upon us again, Mr. Phil. Goin still has a large quantity of pure Benson ice, of last winter's crop, which he is selling very low in order to get his houses cleared out to make room for the new supply. Orders left at his house will receive prompt attention.

The "Crown Jewel" is the prettiest and best heating stove made. There are a number of them in use in this city, and the demand for them increases with each season. Mr. Jno. T. Buckley, the agent, has a variety of sizes on hand, and is doing a lively business in the sale of them.

The members of the Episcopal Church are erecting a neat brick parsonage on the lot adjoining their house of worship, on Washington street. Messrs John Gault & Co. have the contract, and the work is being pushed forward with a will, and when the congregation calls a pastor they will have an elegant home to offer him.

By reference to our column of Announcements, it will be seen that Mr. George W. Quarles is a candidate for the office of Sheriff of this county, at the August election in 1880, subject to the action of the Democratic party. There are few cleverer fellows than George in this county, and if elected he will serve the people faithfully, and, doubtless, will give general satisfaction.

A negro convict, Ed. Martin, escaped from the penitentiary some two weeks ago, and has been seen several times since between here and Forks of Elkhorn. He was recaptured last Saturday, by one of the guards, but made his escape before he reached the prison. The first of this week he stopped a man on the 'pike, a short distance east of the city, and robbed him of a new suit of clothes and a pair of new boots. He is still at large.

Several young ladies of this city have banded themselves together for the purpose of learning the art of cooking, and will be styled the "Frankfort Ladies' Cooking Club." This is as it should be. No young lady should attain woman's estate without having acquired a thorough knowledge of everything that pertains to housekeeping. Especially is it necessary to the comfort of the household that she should know how to cook. Food cooked by dainty hands is far more palatable to an invalid than that prepared by the servant, and it is often necessary that the servant be instructed about cooking. Let us have more cooking clubs, that we may have more young ladies competent to keep house and direct matters in the kitchen.

There was a wedding in high life among the colored people at the Colored Baptist Church in this city Thursday night, Elder George Darsie officiating. Mr. Wm. Lyle and Miss Amelia Dyer were the contracting parties. Everything was conducted in the latest and most approved style. The invitations were delivered by the bride in a carriage, she went to the church in a carriage, the house was thronged, she entered the edifice on a carpet reaching from the curb to the door, was conducted to the altar preceded by two elegantly dressed little flower girls, and presented to the bridegroom, who was in waiting, surrounded by ushers, and before and after the ceremony sweetest strains of music filled the house. The affair passed off with great eclat, and everybody was well pleased.

At a regular meeting of Capital Lodge, No. 269, I. O. G. T., held Thursday evening, Nov. 6, 1879, the following officers were elected to serve the ensuing term:

H. G. Mattern, W. C. T.
Miss Susie Mayhall, W. V. T.
Clarence Egbert, W. S.
Miss Lizzie McEwan, W. A. S.
Harry Buckley, W. F. S.
